London, June 19.

Yesterday arrived a Post from Holland.

From the Amst. Gaz. and Cour. June 25, 26, 27.

Vienna, June 13.

AFTER all the Report we had of the Arrival of the Imperial Courier from Constantinople proves to be untrue. 'Tis not doubted that the Turks detain him, and that they design to enter into War with the Emperour. We are therefore on our part sedulous in our Care of preventing them, and give the first Blow: Accordingly we expect the Campaign will be soon begun by a Siege or a Battle, as Opportunity offers. Prince Eugene will depart very soon for Hungary, to take upon him the Command of the Army. General Heister has already Orders to pass the Save with 30000 Men, to observe the Turks, who are encamped with 60000 Men upon the Frontiers. The Janisaries are in March to joyn them, and 10 or 11000 Men work Night and Day upon the Fortifications of Temiswaer. Prince Alexander of Wirtemburg arrived the 7th at Segedin, where 13 Battallions are in like manner at work upon the Fortifications of that Place. The Express whom the King of Great-Britain sent to Constantinople is still here, by reason that the Court will charge him with some Dispatches for our Minister at the Porte. The Pope's Bull, whereby all the Clergy Secular and Regular, are obliged to pay the Tenths of their Revenues to the Emperour, for the Service of the War against the Turks, is by Order of the Nuncio set up at his Gate, on the Gates of the City, and on the Gates of all the Churches and Monasteries. The Prince of Bevern departed three Days ago for Hungary, and Prince Eugene will follow him very suddenly, and enter upon Action; for 'tis expected that the Mediation of His Britannick Majesty will not take Effect, till that be done. The Danube lyes so full of Ships designed for Hungary, that there is hardly any Passage in it, and never were Preparations greater, than what are now made for this War.

Vienna, June 13. The Imperial Generals who serve upon the Frontiers, have written to Prince Eugene, that they hear, the Resident Fleischman is arrested by the Turks: And by Advices from Constantinople we are informed, that assoon as they heard of the Alliance between the Emperour and the Republick of Venice, all Letters were stopt to the Subjects of his Imperial Majesty, so that we can receive none but what comes thro' the Hands of the British and Dutch Ambassadors. We hear further, that the Imperial Express arrived there the 19th of May, and 3 Days after he, as also the Resident Fleischman, were confined to their Houses, and very narrowly watch'd. We understand that the Prime Vizier, who was marching with 200000 Men to Dalmatia, is Countermanded, and remains with his Army near the Save, to secure Belgrade.

Hamburgh, June 23. From Denmark we hear, that nothing considerable has happend in Norway, but that the Armies lye still near one another. The Danes endeavoured to burn the Bridge the Swedes have built over the Swine-sund, and sent a Ship with 20 Guns to do it, but that was not enough, and therefore Captain Wessel with a large Prahme, will attack it. A certain Post named Spanck, between Friderickstadt and Friderickshall, possest by the Danes, is taken by the Swedes.

London, June 19.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Ireland.

Votes of the House of Commons of Ireland.

Mercurii, June 6. Collonel Ponsonby reported from the Committee appointed to prepare an Address to their Excellencies the Lords Justices, &c. That they had prepared the same accordingly, which he Read in his Place, and after delivered at the Table, where it was again Read, and agreed to by the House with some Amendments.

Resolved, Nemine Contradicente, That this House with their Speaker, do attend their Excellencies the Lords Justices with the said Address, and present the same to their Excellencies as the Address of this House.

An Engrossed Bill, Entitled, An Act for extinguishing the Regalities and Liberties of the County of Tipperary, and Cross Tipperary, commonly called the County Palatine of Tipperary, and for Vesting in His Majesty the Estate of James Butler, commonly called James Duke of Ormond, and for giving a Reward of Ten Thousand Pounds, to any Person who shall Seize or Secure him, in Case he shall attempt to Land in this Kingdom, was Read the Third Time.

Resolved, That the Bill do pass.

Mr. Sollicitor-General according to Order, Reported from the Committee appointed to inspect the several Reports of the late Judges, and other Proceedings in relation to the Election of Magistrates for the City of Dublin, both before and after the late Parliament in this Kingdom, That they having Viewed and Examined the said Reports, and the Charters, Rolls, and Books of the City, had agreed upon a Report, and come to several Resolutions in the Matter to them referred; which Report and Resolutions he Read in his Place, and afterwards delivered in at the Table, together with an Appendix thereto, were the said Report and Resolutions were again Read, and the Resolutions are as follow.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That soon after the Arrival of Sir Constantine Phipps, late Lord Chancellor, and One of the Lords Justices of this Kingdom, in the Year 1710, a Design was formed and carried on, to subvert the Constitution and Freedom of Elections of Magistrates of Corporations within the New Rules, in order to procure Persons to be Returned for Members of Parliament Disaffected to the Settlement of the Crown on His Majesty, and His Royal Issue.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That in pursuance of that Design, indirect and illegal Methods were taken to subvert the Ancient and Legal Course of Electing Magistrates in the City of Dublin.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the said Sir Constantine Phipps, and those engaged in that evil Design, in less than Five Months in the Year 1711. procured Six Aldermen duly Elected Lord-Mayors, and Fourteen Substantial Citizens duly Elected Sheriffs, all well known to be zealously affected to the Protestant Succession, and Members of the Establish'd Church, to be disapprov'd, on Pretence, That Alderman Robert Constantine, as Senior-Alderman, who had not been Mayor, had a Right to be Elected Lord-Mayor.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Senior-Alderman, who had not served as Mayor, had not any Right by Charter, Usage, or By-Law, in Force in the City of Dublin, as such to be Elected Lord-Mayor.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the said Sir Constantine Phipps, and his Accomplices, being unable to support the pretended Right of Seniority, did, in the Year 1713, set up a pretended Custom, or Usage, for the Mayor in being, to Nominate Three Persons to be in Election for Lord-Mayor, One of whom the Aldermen were obliged to choose Lord-Mayor.

Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, That the Lords Justices and Council, on the Fourth Day of September, 1713. came to the following Resolution, viz. Resolved, It is the Opinion of this Board, That the Lord-Mayor of the City of Dublin, for the Time being, has a Right of Nominating Three Aldermen to be put in Election for Lord-Mayor of Dublin, and that the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of Dublin, are obliged to Elect One of the three Aldermen so Nominated, to be the succeeding Lord-Mayor, unless just Objections be made against him.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Right of Nominating the Three Persons to be put in Election for the Mayoralty, is in the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of the said City; and that the Aldermen are in no sort restrained in the Choice of the succeeding Lord-Mayor, to One of Three Persons Nominated, or proposed to be put in Election for Lord-Mayor; and that the aforesaid Resolution of the then Lords Justices and Council, is Arbitrary and Illegal.

Resolved, That it appears to this Committee, That upon the Aldermen of the City of Dublin not submitting to the aforesaid Resolution of the Lords Justices and Council, by choosing One of Three Persons named by Sir Samuel Cooke, Lord-Mayor of the City of Dublin, in the Year 1712. a pretended Right was set up for the said Sir Samuel Cooke, to hold over the Magistracy after the Expiration of the Year, for which he was chosen and approv'd; and the said Sir Samuel Cooke presum'd to act as Lord-Mayor of the City of Dublin, from Michaelmas 1713, at which Time his Year expired, till October 1714, when Sir Constantine Phipps was removed from the Government, and the Privy-Council dissolved.

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That the Lord-Mayor of the City of Dublin, hath not any Right by Charter, Usage, or By-Law in Force in the City of Dublin, to hold over beyond the Year for which he was Elected.

Resolved,

Resolved, That it is the Opinion of this Committee, That Sir Samuel Cooke, by continuing to exercise the Office of Mayor, after the Year for which he was chosen, approved and sworn, acted Arbitrarily and Illegally, and thereby betray'd the Rights and Liberties of the City of Dublin, which he was Sworn to maintain.

[We must refer the rest to our next.]

Dublin, June 9.
